

Fee schedule for certain types of buy-backs

July 2011

The following tariff schedules are used to calculate the buy-back cost of:

- an absence without pay for which the application for buy-back was received more than 6 months after the end of the absence¹;
- a parental leave for which the application for buy-back was received more than 6 months after the end of the absence¹;
- service performed at a research centre;
- service performed for an employer before he became covered by a pension plan;
- service as a casual employee.

The cost of the buy-back is determined on the basis of your annual pensionable salary on the date of receipt of your application for buy-back and the length of the period you wish to buy-back, then a tariff is applied depending on your age at the time of the application, the date of the period, the type of buy-back and the pension plan concerned.

You will find in this document three tariff schedules for RREGOP, the PPCT, the TPP and the CSSP and three tariff schedules for the PPMP and the RPSO.

1. Please note that the tariff schedules do not apply in the case of the buy-back of an absence without pay and a parental leave for which the application for buy-back was received within the 6 months following the end of the absence or the leave. In those cases, the calculation method that consists in asking for a percentage (100% or 200%) of the contributions that should have been paid is applied.
